

I have been listening to KLOVE for several years. This station is very valuable to many listening areas.

It is a shame that any one who allows radio stations which really do not do anything for there communities would even think about take one away which does so much on and off the air.

I have listened in Austin, TX, Denver, CO, Sacramento, CA and now Indianapolis, IN.

This station allows a safe haven for kids and parents. I can not believe that the FCC which allows the crap it allows now would even worry about this station. Seems like you could determine how to make cell phones talk to each other, Cable TV easier to watch, free up communication blocks for emergencies.
